

A SPECIAL EVENT FOR EAST FALLS HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEMBERS

Arlen Specter's Career and Bipartisanship

On Monday, March 4, at 6:30 p.m, Professor Evan Laine, Director of the Law and Society Program at Jefferson University (East Falls Campus) will discuss Arlen Specter at the Specter Center for Public Service, the Georgian building on School House Lane known historically as Roxboro House. It is located on the south side of School House Lane at Netherfield Road, across the street from the main Jefferson/Philadelphia University Campus, with the city address of 3420 Netherfield. Various programs are held at the Center and open to the public.

This East Falls Historical Society event is free and open to the public, but space is very limited and pre-registration is needed. Preference will go to EFHS members. EFHS can be contacted at eastfallshistory@gmail.com.

The Arlen Specter Center, formerly Roxboro House

To pre-register for this event, Send an email to eastfallshistory@gmail.com Be sure to include your name, your email address and the number of people who will be in attendance. We will respond to your email.

Parking may be available on campus in which case we would need to know that you are coming a week in advance.

